

Disciplinary Economics

Utrecht University

Your interests: Economics, politics, and why some countries become rich while others stay poor

Reference programme: Economics and Business Economics, Utrecht University ↗

Economics and economic systems

Introduction to Economics and Business Economics

Microeconomics, Institutions and Welfare

Macroeconomics: European Perspective

Intermediate Macroeconomics: Growth and Sustainability

Development and Growth

Public Choice & Welfare (research)

Market Failures, Institutions & Political Economy

Economics of the Public Sector

Intermediate Microeconomics, Games and Behaviour

Accounting and Finance

Corporate Finance

Strategy and Organisation

Politics, institutions and law

Philosophy, Politics and Economics

Evidence, research and academic skills

Mathematics for Economists

Statistics

Econometrics

Applied Economics Research Course — 15 EC incl. thesis

Flexible space

Open elective space — 45 EC / about 6 courses

UCR — Economics-led greatest disciplinary depth

Your interests: Economics, politics, and why some countries become rich while others stay poor

Economics and economic systems

- Introduction to Economics
- Microeconomics & Behavior
- International Macroeconomics
- Public Economics
- Behavioral Economics
- Accounting & Corporate Finance
- Money, Banking & Finance
- Business & Economy in the Age of AI
- Entrepreneurship & Business Foundations
- International Business & Governance

Politics, institutions and law

- Introduction to Political Philosophy
- Foundations of Comparative Politics
- Theory of International Relations
- European Union Politics
- Governance of Sustainability
- Peace & Conflict
- Law, Society & Justice

History and society

- Modern History
- History of Empires

Evidence, research and academic skills

- Research Methods & Statistics
- Econometrics
- Qualitative Research Methodology
- History Research Seminar
- Personal & Professional Development

UCR — Economics + Politics

more balanced across your interests

Your interests: Economics, politics, and why some countries become rich while others stay poor

Economics and economic systems

Introduction to Economics

Microeconomics & Behavior

International Macroeconomics

Public Economics

Behavioral Economics

Politics, institutions and law

Introduction to Political Philosophy

Foundations of Comparative Politics

Theory of International Relations

European Union Politics

Governance of Sustainability

Peace & Conflict

Law, Society & Justice

Comparative Constitutional Law

Introduction to Public International Law

Human Rights: Law & Philosophy

History and society

Modern History

History of Empires

Introduction to Sociology

Modern Sociology

Evidence, research and academic skills

Research Methods & Statistics

Econometrics

Qualitative Research Methodology

History Research Seminar

Personal & Professional Development

UCR — Institutions & Development

broader, theme-led pathway

Your interests: Economics, politics, and why some countries become rich while others stay poor

Economics and economic systems

- Introduction to Economics
- International Macroeconomics
- Public Economics
- Business & Economy in the Age of AI

Politics, institutions and law

- Introduction to Political Philosophy
- Foundations of Comparative Politics
- Theory of International Relations
- European Union Politics
- Governance of Sustainability
- Peace & Conflict
- Law, Society & Justice
- Comparative Constitutional Law
- Human Rights: Law & Philosophy

History and society

- Modern History
- History of Empires
- Native American Histories
- Introduction to Sociology
- Modern Sociology
- Social Movements & Environmental Justice

Evidence, research and academic skills

- Research Methods & Statistics
- Qualitative Research Methodology
- History Research Seminar
- Introduction to Data Science
- Personal & Professional Development